Sharing IDDSI globally

Sharpening the focus on TM
foods & thickened liquids

Survey now open until May 31, 2015

IDDSI needs your feedback on the draft framework for the international dysphagia diet standards.

We invite individuals with dysphagia, caregivers, health professionals, researchers, food service providers, food industry representatives, government regulatory professionals and those working for national professional associations to provide us with your valuable input and help us achieve the goal of developing a common international language for dysphagia diets.

Go to <https://surveymanager.com.au/anon/1990.aspx> to access the survey.

IDDSI around the globe

Members of IDDSI have been busy sharing information about the initiative around the globe. Recent and upcoming presentations include:
